The Carmel Pine Cone

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMERTIME, MAYBE!

Who are they? Where are they? What are they discussing? When? What was the occasion? The first person to answer these questions will be awarded a one-year subscription to the Carmel Pine Cone. If the identifier already is a subscriber, the subscription won may be sent as a gift to any designated person by the winner. This picture is the first of a series which the Pine Cone will run.

Carmel Artist Honored Here, Also In The South

A Carmel artist, simultaneously, is being honored here and in his native state, South Carolina. He is Richard Lofton.

Dick Lofton returned to Carmel from the South just before Christmas. While away, he attended the opening of a one-man show of his work in the oldest art gallery in the United States. This is the Gibbs Art Gallery in Charleston, South Carolina. He also was present at another opening of the same show in the capital of South Carolina. This event took place in the Columbia Museum of Art. Both openings were televised and Dick had three television interviews in connection with his traveling show.

This month the show will move to the Florence Museum of Art in South Carolina and next month will be exhibited at The Citadel, the military college in the same state which Dick, his father and grandfather attended.

Last month, the Carmel Arts Commission honored Dick Lofton with a citation listing his contributions to the art life of this community. Particularly praised was his work, as a member of the commission, in establishing the city's memorial art museum. Through his efforts, a collection of paintings and sculpture by deceased local artists is now owned by the city and exhibited in city hall.

Today, a retrospective show of oils and watercolors by Richard Lofton opened in the galleries of the Carmel Art Association, of which he is an active member. He also has served on the board of directors of the association.

This show will include his first prizewinning painting, a portrait of his mother which he entered in the South Carolina State Fair when he was 18 years old. To his astonishment, this picture won a first award.

Also in the local show will be a portrait of Dick's nurse, a Gullah negro who began life as a slave. Other periods of his work will be represented in the Carmel Art Association show leading up to a garden landscape and a portrait painted last summer.

Richard Lofton's family settled in South Carolina near Charleston in 1680. He was born in McClellansville, a village which his French Huguenot ancestors established, and in which two of his sisters still live.

One of his eight older sisters gave him a box of paints when he was 12 years old. This present led to dedicated development of his artistic talents.

His grandfather, who was a captain in the Confederate Army, had graduated from The Citadel. He sent his son to the same strict military college and Dick's father enrolled him there, too.

Arts Commission Acts On Sticker For Golden Anniversary

Carmel arts commissioners decided, during a special meeting on Tuesday, not to sacrifice quality for lower cost in the production of automobile stickers which will be sold to help defray expenses of the city's golden anniversary celebration this year.

Informed by a Los Angeles firm that 10,000 of these stickers will cost $1,200, if produced in several colors, arts commissioners chose to have the multi-color sticker, which will be made by silk screen process.

The sticker will be a golden circle. On this will be depicted a cypress in shades of green, a glimpse of blue ocean and one of the candle lanterns made out of cans which early residents used to light their way through the woods. The years 1916 and 1966 will be printed on the decal, also the name of the city.

Sale of the stickers is expected to start shortly after they are delivered here in several weeks.

The 50th anniversary of the incorporation of Carmel will fall in October, the same day as Halloween.

ON LIBRARY BOARD

The city council approved Mayor Blanks' appointment of Mrs. Jerome Werner to the board of the Harrison Memorial Library last night. She will replace Mrs. Horace Dormody who does not wish to continue her service to the city as a library trustee.

Delaying Action On Freeway Type Street Lighting

Two Carmel businessmen urged the city council last night to give further consideration to street lights which will be installed when overhead utility poles are removed from the business district. Communications relative to the new lighting were acknowledged from the Carmel Motel Association and the Klenke Committee. It was intimated that the Carmel Business Association also is concerned about the new lighting although no report from this organization had been received.

Council Refuses To Reconsider Fire Engine Buy

"You are throttling me," loudly declared Councilman Gunnar Norberg, last night, when Mayor Herbert Blanks ruled that Mr. Norberg might not mention the purchase of a new city fire truck while discussing his report recommending the establishment of bidding procedures for major city purchases.

With Mr. Norberg objecting, his report was referred to the city's firm of auditors and the city attorney for recommendations.

Then Mr. Norberg was unthrottled, but not for long. Despite his protests, the four other councilmen refused to reconsider their December approval of an order to purchase a new American-La France fire engine costing $36,188.

However, Mr. Norberg's questioning of the legality of the purchase disclosed that councilmen had acted illegally in the manner in which they proposed to finance the purchase.

City Attorney William Burleigh informed them that they could not use next year's tax income to pay for a fire engine ordered this year.

Consequently, with Mr. Norberg objecting, the council approved that $7,700 from the present capital outlay reserve fund be used to finance the first lease-purchase payment for the new engine.

This was a necessary adjustment of the 1965-66 budget. Last night the council received from City Finance Officer Arthur Plaxton a report on the completion of the capital outlay replacement schedule.

Horse And Buggy Days Here Again

Within a few months, the clip-clop of horses' feet will again be heard along our streets as the result of a decision of the city council, last night, to allow two horsedrawn carriages to transport people about Carmel—for a price.

Any resultant "unsanitary condition will be taken care of as soon as it occurs," Robert Taylor, one of the applicants for a permit for the carriage operation, promised.

The council's approval came following a public hearing during which only Arthur Hull, a former councilman, spoke.

Mr. Hull opposed the carriage operation as a commercial monopoly, also as a traffic and sanitary hazard. He particularly objected to the granting of two parking places on Junipero beside Devendorf Plaza for the exclusive use of the carriages.

As a result of these considerations, the council, for the third time, postponed authorizing the installation of 30-foot poles with 6,000 candlepower luminescent lights on overhanging arms on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues.

"We are quite perturbed," August Nieto told the council. He was speaking as the owner of Dolores Street business property, also for Malcolm Millard, another owner of commercial property on Dolores.

"We are trying to change Carmel way beyond what we thought," he said in reference to the new lights.

Mr. Nieto asked for a continuance on the authorization for installation of the lights until he could canvass property owners in the business district and ascertain what type of street lights are preferred. He said "No lights or limited lighting on our city streets" may be the desired solution. Mr. Nieto stressed that the block on Dolores would set a precedent for future lighting in the entire business district as underground wiring further replaces overhead utility poles.

Dale Leidig told the council that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig, also his uncle, Robert Leidig, Carmel pioneers and owners of large parcels of property in the business zone, were concerned about additional lighting in the commercial area.

"They have preserved Carmel. That is why you are here. Bright lights are not for Carmel. I voice their opinions," Mr. Leidig declared as representative of the family which owned Carmel's only grocery store in 1907.

Mayor Herbert Blanks postponed any council action on the lights and asked all interested persons, including those who indicated opinions last night, and others, to meet with Councilmen James Buffington and Stephen Grant; Peter Darnton, P.G.&E. lighting engineer; and Carvel Baldwin, chairman of the Klenke Committee. They are members of the committee to study new lighting proposals. At the instigation of Councilman Grant, two members of the planning commission will be added to this group. A report and recommendations from the augmented committee is expected next month.

Installation of the new lights was postponed in November at the request of Mr. Baldwin who wished consideration to be given to gas lighting. This proposal was turned down by the council in December and the study committee appointed.

Approval of the freeway-type standards and new lights was given in October following study and recommendation of a joint committee of the council and planning commission.

HAWAIIAN HOLIDAY

Enchantment! Strolls on the beach—sounds of ukuleles strumming, dining in a revolving restaurant high in the sky, the delight of seeing brilliant flowers in abundance—all this and more, was the delightful experience of five members of the Big Sur community during a Christmas holiday vacation in Hawaii. The five were Mrs. Louise Crosby and her daughter Grace, a senior at Carmel High School, Mrs. Gerry Warcken and her daughter Janet, Carmel Middle School student, and Phyllis Trotter, a Carmel High senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trotter of Big Sur. They flew to Honolulu on December 18. On their arrival, they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moller who took them to their hotel on Waikiki Beach. The Mollers, now stationed at Pearl Harbor, were formerly attached to the U.S. Navy Facility at Point Sur. On Christmas Day, the Mollers entertained the five visitors from Big Sur together with 30 other friends.

Another member of the Big Sur community, Miguel Lopez, now serving with the U.S. Navy and stationed at Pearl Harbor, and a friend of the five visitors, took them to many points of interest, particularly in and about Pearl Harbor.

Another friend, Miss Margaret Thompson, former librarian at Monterey Peninsula College, now a resident of Hawaii and associated with the public school system, took the group on several trips including the Mt. Tantalus tour.

Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. Warcken and the three teen-age girls, returned to Big Sur on New Year's Eve just in time to help with the final touches for the annual New Year's Eve buffet supper and party given at River Inn, which is owned and operated by the Crosbys and Warckens.

VISITORS AT RANCHO SIERRA

Visiting at Rancho Sierra Mar, during the holiday vacation were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. "Bill" Post Jr. and daughters Gayle and Rebecca from Santa Barbara and Mrs. Dorothy Williams and daughters Sue Ann and Yvonne from Castro Valley.

YEAR END PARTIES

The owners of Glen Oaks, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Shadwell

sister, now a school teacher and living in South Dakota, went to school on a motor launch "five miles up the Yangtze River. We carried flares with us," Ted relates, "and were told to use them—shoot them up—if we were in trouble—trouble being an attack by bandits, which was not an uncommon occurrence."

On the Yangtze, the senior Mr. Bergquist built the "Mei Ping," a great river boat for the Standard Oil Co.

Ted Bergquist has just been elected master of the Big Sur Grange for 1966 and will be installed in special ceremonies later this month.

POSTMISTRESS VACATIONS

Postmistress of the Big Sur post office, Mrs. Florence McQueen, had cause for especial joy at the holiday season. Mrs. McQueen, and her daughter, Gail, a student at Monterey Peninsula College, spent Christmas with another daughter, Laurel and her family (Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn and four children) in Prunedale. During the days of the happy gathering news was received of the birth of a grandson, named Scott Allen Emory, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Emory of Whittier. Mrs. Emory is the former Carol McQueen and a twin sister of Laurel Lynn.

At the holiday, too, another grandson arrived, little Mark Evan McQueen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McQueen of Los Gatos. Glenn is Mrs. Florence McQueen's eldest son. Two other sons, Don and Garry live in Big Sur.

Ralph Davison

Services for Ralph Porter Davison, a former Carmel resident, were held Monday in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with the Reverend Harvey E. Buck of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church of Pacific Grove officiating. Mr. Davison died December 30 after a period of failing health at the Monterey residence of his son, Ralph P. Davison Jr., with whom he had made his home for the past three years.

Born March 10, 1885, in Minonk, Illinois, he came to the Peninsula in 1927.

At the time he retired a few years ago, Mr. Davison was credit manager of Wilder and Jones Heating and Plumbing Company, a position he held for 15 years. He was a member of the Carmel Lions Club and the Exchange Club of Pacific Grove.

Surviving are three other sons, Keith L. Davison of Carmel, William F. Davison of Monterey and Max Davison of San Jose; 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Burial took place in El Carmelo Cemetery. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

If you want to know what a man's idea of a game dinner is, ask Frank Putnam, former Mayor of Carmel. We did when we cornered him recently in Su Vecino Court. Frank told us about his home away from home which is a private hunting club for men only. This sportsman's refuge was once invaded by two intrepid "duck widows" who were quickly confined to quarters during their short visit. So we will take Frank's advice and stay away from this man's world.

We were lucky to discover that the wild ducks in this area are grain and grass fed and therefore haven't a fishy taste. The mallards and small cinnamon-blue teal are the most delectable. So, if you are a Carmel wife with a huntsman husband, you don't need to go wild in the kitchen! Here are some excellent pointers to follow when preparing the prize of your man's eye.

If anyone wants to enjoy a roasting hot argument, ask a group of local dedicated duck hunters, and diners, the proper time and temperature for roasting a wild duck!

Seldom do two connoisseurs agree on whether duck should be served rare or well done. The wisest course, then, is to place duck in very hot oven, 500 degrees F. and roast uncovered, 15 to 20 minutes "if liked rare." A press is then used to extract the red juices.

The more popular way is to place bird in open roasting pan, breast down, in 450 degree F. oven and brown 45 minutes to 1 hour; add 2 cups water, cover; reduce heat to 350 F; roast about 3 hours, basting as needed with mixture of melted butter and dry wine. Before roasting, wipe inside of duck well with cloth soaked in dry table wine; then salt and pepper inside. Small peeled onions, celery with leaves, quartered apples or plumped prunes may be placed in body cavity. One pound wild duck is considered a serving portion. But here a whole small duck is each to his/her own.

WILD DUCK DINNER

a la FRANK PUTNAM

Follow directions for well done duck. Frank stuffs his with diced peeled apples, onions, celery and quartered seedless grapes! Dry red wine mixed with melted butter is siphoned on at short intervals, as duck are on the dry and not fleshy-fat side such as geese. Length of cooking depends on size of birds. Test for doneness with fork-and-teeth!

To thicken wine sauce: Allow about 2 tbsps. flour for each cup of pan drippings. Blend flour with an equal amount of cold water; add to sauce slowly; stir and cook over low heat until thickened. Season to taste. Serve piping hot.

Coming up is a choice between Cumberland Sauce or Port Wine Jelly, each an easy-to-do accompaniment to wild, wild game.

CUMBERLAND SAUCE

1/2 cup red currant jelly; 1/4 cup Taylor Claret or Rose wine; 1/2 cup orange juice; 2 tps. prepared mustard; 1/2 tsp. powdered ginger; 1 tbsps., each, shredded lemon and orange peel.

Melt jelly; allow to cool. Add wine, orange juice, mustard and ginger. Place finely shredded fruit peel in separate pan with just enough water to cover. Rapidly bring to rolling boil; cool, then strain. Add to jelly-wine mixture; mix well. Serve warm or cold with game.

DUCK DECOY SALAD

DRESSING

(Makes about 3 cups)

1 1/2 cups buttermilk; 4 oz. blue cheese; 2 tbsps. salad oil; dash, each, Worcestershire sauce, onion and garlic powders; Accent; 1 tbsps. Romano grated cheese; salt and paprika to taste; 1/4 cup dry light wine vinegar; 2 tbsps. unsweetened grapefruit juice.

Crumble blue cheese (or imported roquefort) and add to buttermilk or sour cream; mix well. Add oil, sauce, onion and garlic powders, Accent, Romano cheese, salt and paprika to taste. Add grapefruit juice and wine vinegar. Put into covered mason jar and shake well; chill until serving, then shake again. Serve on bite-size (torn with fingers, not cut) crisp red leaf Salinas lettuce and watercress sprigs. Decorate at last moment with drained grapefruit sections and peeled avocado rings dipped in lemon juice and lightly salted. If you prefer you can substitute the avocado rings for sliced marinated artichoke hearts... or use both. This amazing salad answers for both vegetable and dessert and needs no last minute rush to prepare.

Only crisp crackers, a generous and varied cheese board, coffee and liqueurs are needed to finish off this dinner with the same zip as it began.

Thanks to our astute former mayor turned avid huntsman. Bravos, Frank! And accolades to the Taylor wine people, especially Lucille Shearwood, for timely wine tips. Trying any of their sparkling ideas for wine cuisine gives us a know-how on why the world's best cooks keep wine close at hand. So, on with the game!

Our next Party Plans will contain more game recipes. The mentor will then be Dexter Whitcomb, famed Carmel sportsman.

BUSINESS INCREASE IN PAST DECADE

The number of businesses listed in Monterey County during the past year was 2,852. This figure represents an increase of 577 businesses since 1955.

During the past ten years, Carmel Valley showed a 61.3 increase in business growth. Seaside had a 52 percent gain during the same period. Carmel's gain in businesses from 1955 to 1965 was 34.4 percent. This growth does not include all professional and service businesses such as barber shops and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokerage offices. The figures were prepared by Dun and Bradstreet.

Senator Farr To Head Highway Panel At Governor's Conference

State Senator Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel) met in San Francisco yesterday with members of a special task force on scenic highways to prepare for the Governor's Conference on California Natural Beauty, scheduled for Tuesday in Los Angeles.

The preliminary meeting took place at the San Francisco office of architect Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur. Senator Farr met with Corwin R. Mocine, professor of city and regional planning at the University of California, Mrs. Homer Boushey of Portola Valley, Harry Schmit, chairman of the scenic highway advisory committee, Lawrence Halprin, landscape architect and staff representative, Ford B. Ford, executive secretary of the fact finding committee on natural resources.

Senator Farr, who long has been noted for his work in the areas of conservation and beautification, will serve as chairman of the conference panel on highway design, scenic roads and parkways. He served in a similar capacity at the White House Conference on Natural Beauty in May.

The purpose of the Governor's

Conference on California Natural Beauty will be to explore and implement ways of preserving and re-creating California's heritage of natural beauty, either with existing or new legislation.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

The monthly dessert-bridge party of the Junipero Serra Mothers' Club will be held in Crespi Hall on Tuesday from 12:30 to 3 or 4 p.m. The ladies of the parish and their friends are invited to attend.

A donation of $1 is requested, and reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Edwin Rudzis (624-9430). Free baby sitting service will be provided in the cafeteria from 12:30 to 3:00 p.m.

Carmel Mission Basilica resounded with organ and trumpet in Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" for the wedding of Annabelle Herbert, above, and Michael Dennis Gahagan on December 18. During the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford Herbert of Pebble Beach, four musicians from the Monterey County Symphony orchestra, of which Annabelle was once a member, played for guests.

In keeping with the tradition of "something old," Annabelle, member of an old California family, wore a diamond bowknot pendant, a gift from her grandfather to her grandmother, Mrs. George Lyon of Hillsborough, when they were married in San Francisco in 1904.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George William Gahagan of San Francisco, one-time Carmel residents. After a honeymoon at Aspen, Colorado, the young couple is now at home in Menlo Park.

Carmelites Now In Oregon

Capital Manor in Salem, Oregon, is now the home of former Carmelites Judge and Mrs. George P. Ross, also Mrs. Emma Scott, who have sent greetings to their friends through the Pine Cone. With snow all over and still coming, Mrs. Ross writes "It's pretty when you can stay in and be warm and comfy, as we are, and look out." Mrs. Scott, the Rosses and another manor occupant, who has visited here frequently, often reminisce about Carmel but indicate they are happy in their new surroundings.

Pipers Heralded New Year

On New Year's day, friends who dropped in at the home of Mrs. Helen Murphy Martin were delighted, though somewhat startled, by the music of bagpipes. Mrs. Martin's son, Robert, had brought along some fellow pipers from the First Salinas Valley Highlanders who heralded the New Year at Highlands Inn the previous evening. Bob was here from Salinas, with his wife and children, to spend the holiday weekend and visit his mother.

Over Christmas, Mrs. Martin traveled to Santa Monica to be with her daughter, Mrs. Zaida Sherman, a former Carmelite. Zaida and her young son, Michael, are living in an interesting and truly international neighborhood in Santa Monica, where she is currently busy with real estate license examinations.

More Holiday Visitors

Raging storms in the Pacific Northwest failed to deter Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McClelland Natt (Diane Shields) of St. Helens, Oregon, from bringing their youngsters, Teddy and Lorena, to California for the holidays. They arrived in Saratoga for a large family Christmas celebration at the home of Ted's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Natt Sr., where Diane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Shields of Carmel, also joined them.

For the remainder of the holiday season, the Natts and their children were visitors at the Shields' Carmel home. Diane, a native Carmelite who attended Carmel schools, has many friends here, of course. Her husband is on the staff of the Sentinel Mist in St. Helens.

Will It Be A Grandson?

Mrs. Leo Tanous is flying to Ann Arbor, Michigan, today, hoping to beat the stork's visit to her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kiley, who are hoping to present their small daughter, Karin, with a brother.

Ken, a Carmel High graduate, is an associate professor in the field of speech, drama and communications at the University of Michigan. With his master's degree from Stanford and a period as an instructor in radio and television at the University of Kansas, he is now working toward his doctorate.

At the end of the month, Leo Tanous plans to join his wife and the Kileys for the christening of the new grandson, or granddaughter, as the case may be. Later, the Tanouses will visit the family of Leo's eldest brother, Dr. Edward Tanous, in Villa Grove, Illinois.

Dr. Tanous is the eldest of 12 children in the family, sons and daughters of Mrs. Joseph Tanous Sr. of Menlo Park who all gathered, with their families, for what have become annual reunions at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Thanksgiving, the clan celebrated at Sierra Sky Ranch; during Christmas, this large and warm family was in Carmel to raise a toast to their mother and share a holiday feast at the home of Leo and Margee Tanous.

New Year Was Greeted

However much people deplore the ritual of observing New Year's Eve, many continue to do so, with big or small parties, a group of old friends, or in quiet family groups. A few celebrations of which the Pine Cone heard were:

A novel and successful idea, carried out by the Philip "Flip" Hat-tons aboard their boat Innuendo, as she swung easily at her berth at the Monterey Marina, with the wharf and harbor lights splintering through the rain. Roasted wild boar was served to guests, who included itinerant sailors stranded by rough seas, with grog to warm them.

Don and Lydia Criley supplied the entree, their friends the salad and dessert for a gala cocktail and buffet dinner party at the Criley's Carmel Meadows home... and perhaps the nicest part was that Lydia is back on her feet after an operation which has confined her to a walker-chair.

Many of the guests at Mr. and Mrs. Aime G. Michaud's cocktail party at their Pebble Beach home went on to dinner at the Beach Club to see in the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Penoyer invited a number of friends to their Pebble Beach home, and the Jack Geisens had guests for dinner, as did the Bob Smiths, who entertained additional guests later.

The Mike Morales home was the scene of a festive pinata party, complete with Mexican delicacies on the buffet and champagne to toast the coming year.

"Pancho" Hays dined on oats, with a frozen thistle for dessert.

New Year's day is better, somehow, once everyone has survived the shock of facing the next 365—people are more relaxed and ready for open houses, some of which were the Howard Brunns, with their annual "do" at their Hatton Fields residence. Friends of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher wound their way through the Kochers' lovely forested garden in Carmel Highlands to bid them happiness, and a group gathered informally at the Ansel Adamses' place overlooking the Highlands coast.

The John G. Julians welcome mat was out at their Pebble Beach home, and the Sal Nictas hoisted a cocktail flag atop their flagpole in Mission Fields, just in case! Mulled cider with brandy warmed their callers on that bitter cold day, and a generous buffet table offered a fitting "after the ball-is over" repast.

During the holidays, also, friends of Sam and Grace Colburn came by their Carmel Woods studio for a bit of cheer and to admire Grace's unique paintings done on weathered boards. Sam, still busy with portrait commissions, has returned to the San Jose-Los Altos area to complete them.

After a buffet luncheon, guests of Mrs. Barbara Dickson chose to watch the Rose Bowl game on TV or enjoy walking the beach at low tide. Barbara and her sons, Rog and Rob, flew her plane to Puerto Vallarta to spend Christmas there.

And "Pancho" Hays, belly full of oats and wiggling his long velvety ears, was seen escorting his two-legged family members down to the river beach for a romp the day-after-the-day-after.

Allison Reed Wed

On December 28, Allison Reed, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. David Reed of Carmel, exchanged wedding vows with Bruce Dunning Woodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodworth of Pacific Grove. Organ selections played by Henry Alberts of Carmel, a friend of the Reed family, filled Highlands Inn wedding chapel with music for the noon ceremony, which was performed by the Reverend Karel Vit.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding dress. Of ivory brocade, it was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and a full-length bell-shaped skirt. Allison's floor-length illusion veil was topped by a lace cap, inherited from her grandmother, and carnations were combined in the old fashioned nosegay she carried.

Marian Reed, her sister's bridesmaid, was gown in Christmas red taffeta. Her headdress of veiling and carnations, as well as the nosegay she carried, were of matching hue.

Carla Woodworth, the bridegroom's sister, was a junior bridesmaid. Her short pink dress was complemented with a nosegay and headdress to match.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reed chose a beige silk dress and coat. She wore brown accessories and pinned a corsage of white orchids to her lapel.

Mrs. Woodworth attended her son's marriage in a green wool dress, with which she wore matching accessories. Her corsage, too, was of white orchids.

The couple cut a tiered bridal cake, topped by white carnations, at the reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents. After the first piece, succeeding cuts were made by Marilyn Routen of San Jose, who lived with Allison's family for a year.

In Carmel to witness their granddaughter's marriage were Flood Everett Reed of Norwich, Connecticut, and Dr. C. L. Turner of Evanston, Illinois, and La Jolla.

Other guests from out of town included the bridegroom's aunt,

Miss Marilla Dunning of Stockton, Miss Winifred Lovejoy of Stockton, Mrs. York Lucchi of Menlo Park, with her daughters Nora and Claire, Dr. Alex Sweet of Long Beach, Mrs. Angelo Gualtieri and Anthony Gualtieri of Los Altos. Also Elias Mitri of San Jose, Miss Carolyn Kim of San Francisco and Rajai Mitri of Salinas.

For the honeymoon trip to Yosemite, the bride changed to a blue velveteen suit. Allison, a junior at San Francisco State College, will complete the semester there before returning to Monterey, where the couple will make their home while Bruce completes his Arabic course at the Defense Language Institute.

Allison, who graduated from Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College before entering San Francisco State, has four brothers, David Jr., a student at Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania; and Duncan, Everett and Timothy of Carmel.

Her husband graduated from Leilehua High School, Hawaii, and attended the University of California at Berkeley.

A Boy For The Coach

Variety was added to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walthour III with the birth of a son, Robert Michael, at Community Hospital on December 23. The baby, whose father is a coach and physical education instructor at Carmel High School, has two sisters, Kathy, eight, and Krisi, five.

Robert's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Walthour Jr., are residents of Palos Verdes. Mrs. Retha Taylor of Santa Monica is his maternal grandmother.

Vietnam Assignment

Army PFC Robert B. Lockwood, son of Mrs. Betty M. Young of Carmel, was recently assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division to serve with the 8th Engineer Battalion making its base camp in the central highlands of Vietnam. He entered the Army in July, 1965, and completed basic training at Fort Ord.

Before the altar of All Saints' Episcopal Church stand Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Maxwell Faia, the former Susan Lynn Shirley, who exchanged wedding vows on December 20 in an evening ceremony performed by the Reverend David Hill.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Shirley of Carmel, was given in marriage by her father.

Susan's gown was of delustered white satin with appliques of seed pearls and imported lace. Her shoulder-length illusion veil was held in place by a Dior rose, and she carried a spray bouquet of white roses.

Her attendants were Beverly Phillips of Walnut Creek, maid of honor, and Mrs. Niki Wilkin of Carmel, Sue Wiesner of Seattle, Cheryl Browne of Eugene, Oregon, and Carol Gustafson of Los Altos Hills. Their identical dresses were styled with green velvet tops and silk crepe skirts, and they carried bouquets of red roses.

Rod Trask of Sacramento served as best man and the guests were seated by the bridegroom's brothers, Thomas Faia and Dr. John Faia III of Carmel; Chip Woods, here from the University of Pennsylvania; Ted Coman of Salem, Oregon; Steve Severy of Crestline; and Harrison Hilbert and Ed Wilson of Carmel.

The bride's mother greeted guests wearing an ensemble of beige brocade with matching accessories, and Mrs. Faia chose a blue silk outfit with matching accessories.

Following the ceremony, a reception for friends and relatives was held at the Carmel Woman's Club.

When the newlyweds returned from a wedding trip, they went to live in Bell while Ron completes his final year at the University of Southern California Dental School.

Susan, a Carmel High School graduate, attended Oregon State University, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority, and California Polytechnic College. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grandfield of Carmel and of Mrs. Helen Shirley of Pasadena.

Also a graduate of Carmel High,

Ron is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Faia Jr. and the grandson of Mrs. Ruby Marrs, all of Carmel. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity at Oregon State University and, at U.S.C., he belongs to Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity.

Saleens Have A Son

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saleen are the happy parents of a second son, Robert Patrick, who arrived at Community Hospital on December 16. He is the brother of Jeffery, aged two and a half.

The new baby's grandmothers are Mrs. Violet Pedrini of Santa Rosa and Mrs. Ruby Saleen of San Leandro.

The Duvenecks Visited

Yearning for a look at the sea, particularly the Sur coast, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Duveneck were here for a visit during the holidays and called on a few of their local friends. The couple, who lived on the Peninsula some years ago and later made their home in Los Altos, are now residents of Nevada City, where Francis is teaching in a Quaker School and Betty is a librarian in the same school.

M.A. For David Farr

David F. Farr is among the 316 students of the University of Kansas graduate school who have completed requirements for degrees since June, 1965, commencement exercises. He earned his master's degree in the field of botany while studying under a fellowship grant at the university.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farr of Carmel, David is a graduate of Carmel High School's class of 1959. He has transferred to the University of Michigan, where he will continue his work toward his doctorate in botany.

Recuperating In Carmel

A week before Christmas Mrs. Albert K. Molendyk was able to return to the home on Monte Verde Street which she and Mr. Molendyk moved into at the end of last summer after returning from a year of travelling in Europe. In September, she was injured in an automobile accident in the San Francisco Bay area and was unable to return to Carmel until recently.

The Molendyks, who formerly lived in Berkeley, retired before their European trip and decided to make Carmel their home on their return.

Mr. Molendyk first came to Carmel in 1924 from Holland on an overnight visit to see his friend, the late Johann Hagemeyer, noted photographer, and stayed here seven years. A former bank official in Amsterdam, he repaired coal oil stoves and trimmed trees to support himself during this period.

"I earned 75 cents an hour, paid 50 cents for a good supper, and rented a house back of Sunset School, with utilities, for $25 a month," he recalls of the depression years.

Following his marriage to Mrs. Molendyk, he became first an insurance man, then a real estate agent with his own office, for 15 years, in Berkeley. Mrs. Molendyk was a medical social worker. They both retired two years ago.

Le Jour Des Tres Rois

When l'Alliance Francaise members meet today, they will hear Mrs. Jehanne Salinger Carlson describe in French the customs of her native France on Le Jour des Tres Rois, the day of the Three Kings. Since Mrs. Carlson is a lively raconteuse everyone is looking forward to her report of the traditional celebration of this day.

Today the group, which meets monthly for a the-conversation where only French is spoken, will be guests at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, whose co-hostess will be Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell. As a special treat, le Patisserie Boissiere has prepared a puff paste, "galette des rois," which contains little favors, the finders of the favors being assured health and happiness throughout the year.

CHILDREN'S ART SHOW

Youth Who Formerly Lived In Carmel To Tour U.S. On Bicycle

A young man who once lived in Carmel for four years and attended Sunset School, also was one of the little boys who sold Pine Cones during this period, is going to circle the United States on his bicycle.

Jeff Hadden, now 18, rode this 10-speed Austrian bike from Salinas, where he now lives, to Carmel to tell the Pine Cone about his proposed trip. Ever since he was eight years old, Jeff has lived in foster homes in Monterey County. These homes have been in Carmel Valley, Marina, King City and Salinas. He graduated in 1965 from North Salinas High School and this past semester was a student at Hartnell College. But he has not been doing too well in his studies.

"I need emotional stability. I am going to ride my bike and think, see my country," Jeff said.

He will leave Salinas on January 15, cross the southern United States to Miami, then bicycle through the Atlantic seaboard states to Boston, Massachusetts. He plans to spend July 4 in Washington, D.C.

From there, Jeff will travel to Niagara Falls and cross into Canada. After a 100-mile stretch in this country, he will return to the United States and traverse northern states before turning southward on a route that will take him to Yellowstone National Park, Reno and eventually back to Salinas by August 20 in time to prepare to enroll again at Hartnell.

Jeff is taking light camping equipment with him, also a .22 rifle for hunting and protection. He will carry with him, too, a YMCA membership card and stop,

Salgo To Audition Singers Next Week

Bach Festival Chorus auditions will be held on January 15, in the music room at Carmel High School. Maestro Salgo will be in Carmel personally to conduct the auditions. Singers with choral experience are welcome.

The main choral works to be presented this year are The Mass in B Minor, the No. 50 Cantata and a Handel Oratorio.

The choral rehearsals will be conducted by Kenneth Ahrens, assistant to Mr. Salgo and will commence on the third Tuesday of February and continue each Tuesday evening thereafter.

Anyone interested in auditioning should telephone the festival office (624-3437) for an appointment.

GRAVES WILDERNESS EXHIBIT NOW IN SAN FRANCISCO

From many remote areas of Washington, Oregon, Montana and California, C. Edward Graves of Carmel has brought back a beautiful series of nature photographs in color which now comprise the newest exhibit at the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. On display in Lovell White Hall through January, the exhibit, "Beauty in Wilderness," is an arresting photographic essay on his search, as Mr. Graves puts it, for "solitude, quietude, remoteness, a sense of adventure, and virginal beauty."

in cities, at hostels maintained by this organization.

His funds are decidedly limited. Odd jobs along the way, he hopes, will furnish needed funds. He also hopes that he may obtain sponsors for his trip, perhaps sporting goods firms, youth groups or interested persons.

And will his parents worry about him? He doesn't know where they are. The State of California has been the only parent he has known for ten years.

CHRISTMAS BUREAU SCOOP

The 1965 fund of the Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau was $50 richer as the result of the coins which Mrs. Thomson J. Hudson scooped from the fountain in the Fern Grotto at Mark Thomas Inn. Patrons of the inn had thrown the pennies, nickels and dimes in the pool. Mrs. Hudson was Christmas Bureau chairman this year. On December 23, the bureau distributed dozens of toys and quantities of food to needy families. These articles had been donated by schools, organizations and interested persons throughout this area.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

A Happy New Year to you all and may the books you read this year be better than the ones you read last year . . . a great deal better, in fact!!

The first new book for us this week is a fascinating one. Written by Lucy Kavalier, it is entitled "MUSHROOMS, MOLDS AND MIRACLES." Some of you may have heard a radio program last Sunday during which two men discussed the smoking of marijuana and the taking of a psychedelic drug called LSD. If so, you will be especially ready for "Mushrooms, Molds, and Miracles," for the book contains a clear explanation of psychedelic drugs. It also discusses fungi as food, fungi and our crops, fungi and the conquest of space. The author is a young New Yorker who has to her credit several scientific books for children.

The term "SOUTHERN JUSTICE" seems almost an anomaly and perhaps that is what Leon Friedman had in mind when the title was chosen for his new book. Nineteen contributors wrote the book, and in it are accounts of 17 trials in the South. The editor, Mr. Friedman, is a lawyer who graduated from Harvard law school and has done work for the Civil Liberties Union. In each case the people who did the actual writing of the sections of the book are identified by short biographical notes. If the accounts in this book do not make you feel sick there is probably something the matter with you . . . morally.

And speaking of morals, we have a new book by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, the title of which is "SIN, SEX AND SELF CONTROL." Dr. Peale is not only pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York, but he is president of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry. Ever since he wrote "THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING," he has been combining psychiatry and religion very successfully. This latest book has many case histories with specific advice and results. Like the minister who preached to Calvin Coolidge, when Mr. Peale talks about sin . . . he's against

AUDUBON FIELD TRIP

On Saturday, members of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will take a field trip to the holly farm near Watsonville. Meeting place will be Jetty Road and Highway One opposite the Moss Landing salt works and the time will be 9 a.m. Mrs. Viola Anderson will be the leader. Lunch should be brought.

it. This is a good, solid book.

The age of chivalry by definition refers to a time when men were kind to their horses and any tenderness shown to women was incidental." So says Elaine Kendall in her book, "THE UPPER HAND." She says what she has to say in a clever and entertaining manner, and all of it is about men.

John Fairchild is editor of the Women's Wear Daily and an authority on fashion. His new book is entitled "THE FASHIONABLE SAVAGES." It is a book about designers of women's clothes, illustrated with photographs of the designers and some of the fashionable women they design for. The book is crammed with good advice for the woman who loves clothes but buys on a close budget. He says " . . . should insist it is in good fabric and well cut, something she can discover by simply turning the dress inside out and looking at the seams . . . The design should be restrained . . . Good fashion should be comfortable and natural" and so on. So suppose all this is not new, it is interesting to read what John Fairchild has to say about it, and his remarks about the great designers are most interesting.

Here we go into another new year. You resolve to read more books. We will resolve to be better about telling you of the new ones in the library. And so, God bless us every one!

Jury Trial Set For Tree Cutting Charge

February 23 is the date set for the trial of Jack Feiner who is charged with violating a city ordinance by cutting a branch of a city-owned tree without permission from the city council. Mr. Feiner has requested a jury trial.

Twice Mr. Feiner asked the city council to allow him to trim a cypress in front of his house on San Antonio Street near Seventh Avenue. Twice permission was denied.

On December 15, Mr. Feiner had a large branch cut off the cypress which is situated in the public

Circle Theatre Presents Witty, Sophisticated, Amusing Comedy

BY DOROTHY REED

Upwards of 25 years ago, Walter Kerr, now a well known New York drama critic and author, was a student at Northwestern University's school of speech and directed a production at the local high school, with this writer as his assistant. He was a very personable young man and all the girls in cast and crew were overcome with admiration for him. With these memories it would be very satisfying to report that his wife has written a terrible play and that local actors were crazy to choose it—but this would be totally wrong. "Mary, Mary" by Jean Kerr, now at the Golden Bough Circle, is a witty, sophisticated and thoroughly amusing play, an up-to-the-minute comedy furnishing a complete change of pace from recent classical productions.

Rosamond Goodrich plays the title role of the contrary Mary whose flippancy disguises her basic lack of self-confidence and has driven her husband to divorce. It is her show entirely until the last act, when Norman McPhee, playing her husband, achieves a priceless portrayal of a man fighting off the effects of sleeping pills while trying to win back his wife. His desperation enables him to give Mary the emotional commitment she needs, and the play ends with the couple reunited.

Director Nick Zanides has pitched the three supporting roles in a very low key—too low, perhaps, for many of the witty lines are essentially thrown away. Stephanie Cummings as Mary's rival is no match at all for the vibrant Miss Goodrich; if this was intentional, Miss Goodrich needs no such protection. The part is rich with deadpan howlers which Miss Cummings does not quite bring off.

It is curious, too, that Zanides, who has been convincing in a wide variety of parts over the years, should be less so in the role of an actor, Mary's temporary heart interest. Again one suspects that the part was played down, for the sake of the principals, more than is necessary. There is such a thoroughgoing contrast between the characters of the two men that the actor's part could take considerably more impact.

Most effective of the supporting characters is C. Winter Van Horn as an urbane, imperturbable tax lawyer who makes the first move to bring Mary and her husband back together—partly through friendship and partly to remedy an otherwise intolerable tax situation.

An attractive New York apartment setting has been created by Barbara Tripp with handsome modern furniture and accessories that give freshness to the production. The problems of playing completely in the round are handled with smoothness and skill.

"Mary, Mary" runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock. Special rates are available for groups.

MPVS MEETS TOMORROW

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services will meet tomorrow at the Monterey U.S.O. to vote upon special projects for 1966. Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. before the general business meeting at 10:30 a.m.

James Morehouse

Requiem mass for James Edward Morehouse, who was shot and killed December 27, 1965, in an attempted burglary of the Mission Ranch, was held Monday in Carmel Mission Basilica.

A Carmel resident since boyhood, Mr. Morehouse was 26 years old at the time of his death.

Burial took place in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Colonel Hering

Services for Colonel Earl Lee Hering (USA ret.) were held Monday afternoon in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with the Reverend William A. Gilbert of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Ventura officiating. Colonel Hering, a resident of Pebble Beach for the past 17 years, died December 29 in Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, after a period of illness.

He was born on January 8, 1888, in Anthony, Kansas, and lived in Trinidad, Colorado, during his youth.

Colonel Hering attended the University of Denver and was graduated from the University of Michigan. In San Antonio, Texas, he practiced dentistry before joining the Army Dental Corps in 1917. A graduate of the Army Dental School and the Medical Field Service School, he served at many Army posts and general hospitals in Hawaii and Panama as well as the United States.

With his wife, Lucy, whom he married in 1911, Colonel Hering came to the Peninsula in 1948 following his retirement from Army service.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Dan Hering of Pebble Beach; a daughter, Mrs. A. L. Shoaff of Fort Lauderdale, Florida; and six grandchildren.

Inurnment took place at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Second Lieutenant and Mrs. Warren E. Mitchell are seen above at the reception at the Fremont Hills Country Club following their wedding on December 18. The double ring ceremony took place in Stanford Memorial Chapel in Palo Alto with the Reverend R. M. Minto officiating.

Mrs. Mitchell is the former Jacqueline Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Larkey Jordan of Los Altos Hills. She was born in Carmel. The late Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan were her grandparents. Mr. Jordan was Mayor of Carmel in 1926-27 and the owner of Pine Inn for many years.

Jacqueline's husband is the son of Mrs. W. N. Mitchell of Honolulu and the late Mr. Mitchell.

The young couple met in their senior year at the University of Oregon from which they graduated last year.

Given in marriage by her father, Jacqueline wore a gown of white satin with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace, which she had designed herself. Empire in style, the dress had a high neckline and cathedral train. A double bow with lace appliques held her bouffant illusion veil. Gardenias, stephanotis and baby ivy were combined in her bouquet.

She was preceded up the aisle by six attendants in frocks of orange sherbet crepe with white lace covering the Empire bodices. They carried bouquets of gardenias and carnations mingled with ferns.

Following the wedding reception for 200 guests, Lieutenant and Mrs. Mitchell left for a honeymoon in Hawaii. The bridegroom is attached to the 7th Infantry Division of the U.S. Army in Korea.

Kristina Makes Five

On December 22, Kristina James Neill joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Neill Jr. She was welcomed home from Community Hospital by her three sisters, Kathy, Kim and Kerry, and her brother, Clay.

Kristina, whose father is clerk of the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Neill of Carmel and of Mr. and Mrs. David James of Oakland.

Commended By Army

Mrs. Donna B. Chenoweth, budget analyst with the U.S. Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord, was one of seven civilian employees who recently received official commendations for their outstanding performance ratings. Signed by the commanding general, Brigadier General Leland G. Cagwin, the commendations were presented by Colonel Vernon G. Gilbert, deputy commander, during the Christmas holidays.

Gilroy Topples Carmel

BY MARK CZIRBAN, CHRIS LAIOLO AND RUSTY VANDERVORT

The Gilroy Mustangs came from behind in the fourth quarter and swept ahead to take a 47-36 victory over home town Carmel in the last varsity basketball game.

The lightweights, fresh from their victory at the Pacific Grove Lightweight Tournament, were downed 54-26. Carmel's high point man on this team was Randy Newman with nine points.

The junior varsity won 49-36 with Rick Oleson getting 19 for high point honors.

In the varsity game, Carmel held the lead for the first quarter but dropped to a two-point lead at halftime when the score was 18-16. Tony "Spider" Laiolo, who got high point game honors with 11, scored five of the nine points in the first quarter.

During the third quarter, Carmel dropped slightly behind but Doug "Truck" Adams showed fine form on drives. In the fourth quarter, Gilroy put the game on ice as Al Williams, who "lucked out" for 16 points in the game, led the Mustangs to victory.

Cunningham and Fonseca tallied six points apiece for Carmel. Robich had 13 and Wesky, 10, for Gilroy.

The Padres travel to Pacific Grove tomorrow and will be looking for revenge for the football season loss. Johnny Johnson doesn't play basketball!

DUTCH JOURNALIST AT WOMAN'S CLUB

"Trouble Spots in Focus" will be the subject of Willem L. Oltmans, known as "The Flying Dutchman," speaker at the first general meeting of the New Year of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m.

Netherlands-born and Yale educated, Mr. Oltmans has covered many major news events of the past decade for United Press International and his Dutch passport has enabled him to visit many areas normally out of bounds to American reporters. The speaker has visited Cuba six times, as well as Asia, Africa, the near East, India, Indonesia, Malaysia and Southeast Asia, also attended the Afro Asian Conference in 1964.

Mr. Oltmans is the fourth generation member of his family to go to Indonesia. As a result of his family affiliations and his activities as a Dutch journalist in Jakarta, he has had the opportunity to become personally acquainted with many political and business leaders in Southeast Asia. He has recently completed a biography on President Sukarno.

Tea will be served following the meeting.

HOME WITH PROTECTED OCEAN VIEW

and the beach across the street. You can't go wrong with this 3-bedroom, 2-bath, Comstock-built home. From the beamed-ceiling living room, you have a panoramic view of the ocean and Point Lobos. House is in immaculate condition. $65,000, and worth it.

3 BDRMS.—MAGNIFICENT OCEAN VIEW

Words cannot describe the view or setting of this exceptional, UNDER-$50,000 home—you must see it for yourself. Features include large living room, large dining room, all-electric kitchen, nearly 4 baths, almost an acre, secluded, yet a short 5-minute drive to either Carmel or Monterey.

3 BDRMS.—2 BATHS—NEAR BEACH

On San Antonio, just south of Ocean Avenue. This extensively remodeled home is in excellent condition, yet it has kept that charming feeling one finds only in an older home. Reasonably priced for the location at $55,000.

OCEAN FRONT HOME—SUPERB VIEW

A REAL BUY ON CARMEL POINT

Poor health forces the sale of an exceptionally fine home at less than land value. Here are a FEW pertinent facts and features: 3-bedrooms, 3-baths, PLUS guest room & bath, large basement, hot-water heat, dining room, modern, fully equipped kitchen, corner location with Valley view, and FOUR LARGER THAN AVERAGE LOTS. All for $75,000. Exclusive.

NOT MUCH CASH BUT A BIG INCOME?

AND EXPENSIVE TASTE AS WELL? If this fits you, or even if it doesn't, the quality of this new, large, 4-bedroom, 4½-bath, Hatton Fields home should satisfy the most demanding buyer. No expense was spared in construction. Near Carmel High School. $82,500 with as little as $10,000 down.

SPECIAL NEED HOUSES

If your "special need" is for a house without steps to negotiate, wide door-ways and halls that will make it easy to move about with crutches or in a wheel-chair, and cheerful bright rooms, call us for an appointment to see two in Carmel that meet all these requirements. One is "as good as new," has two bedrooms each with bath, cheerful enclosed lanai and attached double garage. It is offered at a sacrifice price of $31,500. The other, a larger, absolutely new house also has two bedrooms, two baths and attached double garage. In addition it has a separate dining room, large dressing room, secluded patio on sunny side and distant glimpse of water. Deluxe construction with careful attention to all details. Listed at $39,500.

Or, if your "special need" is for a spacious house close enough to village that you can walk to work and with possibility of increasing your income by renting one or two rooms with their own bath and private entrance, let us show you one of the cheeriest three bedroom, two bath houses in Carmel that can be purchased for less than $35,000. Good financing assured by three lending companies all eager to put a loan on this strategically located property which has unlimited appreciation potential.

Or, perhaps you need a house that needs you! One that will challenge your "fixer-upper" skills. South of Ocean Ave. and less than 3 blocks to village. Three bedrooms, big living room, secluded patio and excellent FHA loan commitment for qualified buyer. $26,500.

Or, if your need is so very special that you prefer building your home, we offer a beautiful lot in upper Pebble Beach, with ocean view, at price comparable to non-view lots. $15,500.

Council Refuses To Reconsider Fire Engine

(Continued from Page One) The council, in future, will provide a fund of $35,000 to "adequately protect the vital services of the city for some time to come" without tax increases to pay for major capital outlay expenditures, such as a new fire engine.

The council also approved a transfer of $2,000 from the Sunset Commission's capital outlay operating budget to its maintenance and repair operating budget to permit repair of the Sunset auditorium stage.

The council denied a request of the Klenke Committee that the question of placing city administration offices at Sunset Center be put on the April municipal election ballot. Sufficient council consideration had been given to this matter and the public had had ample opportunity to make its opinions known was the reason given for the denial.

A request from the city attorney for an expenditure of $417.50 for legal reference books was reduced to $117.50. The Sunset Commission's report, recommending more details on a proposal for financing Sunset Center, presented to the commission by Carvel Baldwin, was approved. The council denied a request for a street light on the edge of the residence zone at Dolores and Fourth.

Approved was a policy permitting the city to reimburse members of the volunteer fire department for personal property damaged or destroyed while fighting a fire, except automobiles.

The new ordinance providing stringent control of auctions in Carmel was given second reading and adoption. In connection with this action, the city attorney told the council that the city's case against the Fine Arts Gallery of Carmel is still pending. No date for a hearing has been set by the clerk of the federal court judge in San Francisco under whose jurisdiction this litigation falls.

Mormon Church To Present 3D's Trio

The 3 D's, a vocal and instrumental trio, will present a program to benefit the welfare fund of the Monterey Bay Stake of the Mormon Church at Sunset auditorium on January 13 at 8 p.m.

The show will consist of two hours of comedy, drama, music and rhythm.

Individually, the 3 D's are Dick Davis, Denis Sorenson and Duane Hiatt. They formed their trio at Brigham Young University from which they graduated, respectively, in speech and hearing therapy, international relations and journalism.

"I'd like to put them in my suitcase and take them with me," was Bob Hope's reaction to the 3 D's appearance on his program.

The 3 D's present a new approach to rhyme, rhythm and reason, therefore bill their forthcoming program in Carmel as "The 3 D's present the 3 R's."

Vera Flynn

Family services for Mrs. Vera H. Flynn, who died Sunday in a Peninsula hospital after a period of failing health, were held Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. A longtime resident, Mrs. Flynn and her late husband, Frank T. Flynn, were owners of the Boot and Saddle Shop in Carmel for over 25 years.

Mrs. Flynn, whose home was in Hatton Fields Mesa, was born in Canon City, Colorado, April 26, 1895.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Harnden of Monterey, and a brother, Ray E. Cannon of Pebble Beach.

Friends wishing to make memorial contributions in honor of Mrs. Flynn may do so to the Monterey County Cancer Society, P.O. Box 1028, Monterey.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of services.

Carmel Residence Area Donations Break Community Chest Records

The Carmel residential division of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest has exceeded its quota of $24,000, Mrs. Webster Street, chairman of this section of the fund drive, announces.

The figure of $24,095 reported to date is the best figure ever from Carmel residential, exceeding the best previous year, 1961, by $254. Last year's figure was $22,634.

Art News...

The annual meeting of all active members of the Carmel Art Association will be held on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the association's galleries on Dolores Street. The 1966 board of directors will be elected and important business discussed. All members are urged to attend.

A new show of paintings and sculpture by members of the association opened today and will be exhibited through February 3. Charles Thomas was in charge of the hanging committee.

In the Beardsley Room at the galleries, a retrospective exhibition of oils and watercolors by Richard Lofton will run concurrently with the show in other rooms.

Entries in the annual Religious Art Show at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School will be received in Herrmann Hall ballroom on January 10 and 11 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Work entered in the professional category will be eligible for part of the total $500 in prize money. Amateurs will receive ribbon awards.

This show will be open to the public during the last two weeks of this month, starting January 16, daily from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Sponsored by the NPGS Catholic Chapel Guild, the religious art show has, in two years, attracted widespread interest. Artists throughout California will submit work this year. Judges will be Nina Valvo of San Francisco and William Estler of Palo Alto.

The annual membership dinner meeting of the Monterey Peninsula branch of the American Federation of Arts will be held on Tuesday in the House of Four Winds in Monterey. A gourmet French dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a no-host cocktail hour starting at 6:30 p.m. Reservations for the social event may be made until 5 p.m. tomorrow by phoning AFA headquarters, 624-2918.

The approved AFA budget totals $21,000, according to a report by the president, Leonard Heller. A donation of stock by one of the AFA members has become the basis for an endowment fund. Such donations are tax exempt.

During January, paintings and drawings by Ben Bishop will be exhibited at the AFA gallery on Lincoln Street south of Ocean Avenue. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5

Brigadier General Frank Caulfield (USA-Ret.) of Bank of America, chairman of Carmel business division, and his volunteers to date have raised $7,857 against a goal of $8,370.

J. Daniel Tibbitts, general chairman of the total Peninsula campaign, has announced that $191,205 is reported to date against a goal of $195,000. One year ago the Chest reported $174,000.

The annual dinner meeting of the Chest is set for January 17 at the Mark Thomas Inn and the organization is working toward announcing that it has attained its campaign goal on that date.

live use of the carriage operators. Councilman James Buffington pointed out that the granting of the two parking places was establishing a precedent. He emphasized that other forms of public transport, such as taxi operations, were denied such privileges.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey recognized that approval of parking for the carriage trade might lead to applications for similar parking for taxis.

And it did. Immediately after the council approved the permit for Mr. Taylor and his partner, Jerry Crews, a petition for parking privileges for motor vehicles was made.

A Carmel citizen, Shepard Peterson, president of Chartered Limousine Service Inc. approached the council dais and asked that his luxury cars be given the same privilege as horse-drawn carriages.

"The door is wide open," Mayor Herbert Blanks told him and requested that a written request for this parking be given to the city clerk so that it might be properly considered by the council.

Mr. Peterson's firm will provide limousines "anywhere in California." It was in this company's cars that Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon drove about Carmel in November.

Only Councilman Stephen Grant voted against the carriage operation. "I have a predilection in favor of quadrupeds," was how Councilman Gunnar Norberg explained his "yes" vote.

Mr. Bishop now is an assistant professor in the art department of State University College at New Paltz, New York.

After leaving New York, Richard Lofton was director of the Community Art School in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, until the beginning of World War II when he was commissioned as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He later was posted to Fort Ord as captain of a coast artillery unit in a barrage balloon outfit.

He liked the Peninsula and after the war settled in Carmel which has been his home ever since. He met and married his wife, Nancy, in Winston-Salem. They have two daughters, Mrs. Edward Faridany of Boston, Massachusetts, and Melissa, a student at Santa Catalina School for Girls.

Richard Lofton's work is included in the permanent collections of San Francisco Museum of Art, the Santa Barbara Museum, the Cleveland Museum in Ohio, International Business Machines Corporation collection and the Monterey Public Library.

His oils, watercolors and drawings are included in numerous private collections throughout the United States.

In addition to current exhibitions, one-man shows of his work have been given at the University of South Carolina; in San Francisco at the Lucien Labaudt Galleries and the De Young Museum; the Santa Barbara Museum; Hartnell College, the New Group gallery; the Galerie de Tours and the Carmel Art Association Galleries.

Except for his years in the Army, Richard Lofton has painted continuously. The exhibition of his work which opened in Carmel today presents a comprehensive view of the immense range of his talent over almost 40 years. Above all, he is being honored in his adopted home town.
